"Streets and Sidewalks."

An address delivered by Mr. L. T. Chiles at a meeting of the Men's Club at the Baumont Hotel, Feb. 15.

"I am to talk about the streets and pavements of Mt. Sterling although at first glance they appear hardly worth talking about; the fact of the business is, that a casual observer would fail utterly in estimating their real worth, or rather their cost, for these terms do not always mean the same thing, certainly not in this case. Though notably unlike Milton's broad and ample road, so far as dimensions are concerned, yet like that heavenly highway, the dust is gold and the mud is fine gold, a parenthetical bonanza for the contractors, for whose use and benefit they seem to have been laid out, the hay-out costing the tax payers the snug sum of $4,000 per year.

It is in vain that we rise up early and sit up late tooting our own horns and singing our own praises, so long as our streets in winter are rivers of mud, their shores strewn with wreckage, or dusty deserts in summer, detrimental alike to outdoor life, the liberty of the front yard and the pursuit of cleanliness, for every traveler who visits us notices and comments on such untoward conditions, for there is nothing that so emphasizes and advertises the prosperity of a city, the thrift and intelligence of its citizens, or the capability of its administration, as properly constructed, tidy streets; and not only is the reputation of the municipality injured by slovenly paved, badly drained streets, but the commercial and physical welfare of its inhabitants are endangered as well, and it is a lamentable fact that neither considerations of health, wealth or happiness, seem sufficient to arouse our people to an appreciation of the necessity of radical improvements in the construction and maintenance of our roadways; and the only explanation of this alarmingly apathetic condition that I have been able to discover, is the innate modesty of Kentuckians, for as paradoxical as it may appear the Kentuckian is the greatest braggart and at the same time the most modest man in the world; hear him:

"From the bosky Bluegrass dells,
From the Bourbon flowing wells,
From the Nevin's tree girl soil,
From the Red-brush where they toil,
From the Penury's cave pierced ground
Comes the constant, awful sound" of his yawn, as he blows about himself, his horse, his gun, his dog, perhaps about his girl and possibly about his State, but wait till he runs down, if time is no object with you, and then gently prod him about his lack of enterprise, his seditious looking old towns and his need of internal improvements—this includes the gold cure—and presto what a change as exit egotism and enter sedate modesty, while in soft and drawling accents he says: "I am no better than my fathers. Their high old ways and old high ways shall be my ways. What was good enough for them is good enough for me." About all we have inherited from our dark rainy night, for gates on even the rustiest hinges seem to get a move on themselves at such times.

It is said the wise thing to do is to make the best of a bad situation. So far the contractors alone seem to have profited by this suggestion; but I am not here to represent the mud slingers, or reprimand the mud daubers, but gently intimate that contractors and street commissioners are not altogether responsible for the unkempt appearance of our town. A small modicum of civic pride, diligently and intelligently applied to the betterment of our local habitations, a fuller understanding of our duties and responsibilities, with a prompt dismissal of the unworthy desire to have some one else do what is our own work, would be a starter in the right direction.

It is easier, however, to rail than to make them—to criticize than to construct. Most men know when they are sick and many like to discuss their ailments, but mere talk about our condition never cures any ills, either real or imaginary. The proper thing to do is to locate the weak spot and to study how best to apply the remedy, but we have so many weak spots in our body politic that I sometimes think our only chance is to be made over again; to be renovated by some powerful steam process after the manner of old feather beds. Yet this might only result in furnishing soiler places for the office seeker, for like the poor he is always with us and though he does not of ten come in goodly apparel and with a ring upon his finger he soon finds one that will fit him, for rings seem as indispensable in the conduct of our town affairs as they do in a high church wedding. What we need now is fewer partisans and more patriots, men who are willing to work for you rather than work for you, who place the general good above mere personal greed, men who are willing to put their own house in order and to see to the abatement of nuisances in their own neighborhood. When all will be on the defensive against the offensive what a lessening of unsightly scenes and unendurable smells will follow.

A great deal of our trouble comes from a misapprehension of the purpose of our streets, for so much money has been buried in them, such vast quantities of rock, good and bad, principally bad, have been found an early grave, that many come to the conclusion that they are really graveyards, and when I see piles of refuse lying in the streets in front of the houses of such people, I can almost imagine that I hear them as they empty the wheelbarrow or the ash pan, crying: "Earth to earth," "ashes to ashes," "dust to dust." Others seem to think that the streets, like public roads, go some where, and hope when they go they will take the garbage with them. I had often heard the expression "everything goes," but never fully understood its meaning till making a tour of inspection down our alleys and side streets I found that pretty much everything did go—into them, from tin cans to dead cats and cast-off wearing apparel. I have known a number of ugly people who do not have a very high appreciation of beauty, they say it is but skin deep and too ephemeral to deserve serious consideration. Real beauty includes both soul and body and only a sound healthy body containing a rational soul can be truly beautiful.

One of Tribby's admirers said, even when wasted by illness she lay dying, that she was still beautiful, "her bones were so good."

The beauty of a city like the beauty of a person does not consist in the mere outward application of paint or white wash, temporarily covering blemishes or defects but in a systematic cleansing from cellar to garret and an intelligent and provident disposition of all waste and garbage, for much of it could be turned into the manure heap, in place of being heaped upon our thoroughfares, a menace to health and a blot on the landscape, drawing flies instead of growing flowers. People so devoid of pride, so lacking in consideration for the comfort and welfare of others and the good looks and good name of our city should be summarily dealt with.

One of the least expensive methods of improving the beauty of the streets would be the planting of trees on a larger scale, trees of more attractive foliage and with a longer lease on life than the maples we now effect. Suppose our happy-go-lucky forefathers had paid a little more attention to planting trees and less to planting each other, in the long ago, how we would rise up now and call them blessed. What a monument to their good sense and forethought on our avenues would be a few of the wide-spreading elms or mighty white oaks that once flourished here, but which, with characteristic impudence they cut down and consigned to the flames, and now no doubt many of them know just how it is themselves and frequently long for the cooling shade that they did not appreciate when on earth. The beauty of a town depends almost entirely on its trees for they not only cover a multitude of sinners, but hide a multitude of sins, and with all our dust, or mud and wreckage, a hundred fine old trees along Locust, Main and Mayville streets would cause every corner to expatiate on the beauty of the place. Now let us profit by the folly of our ancestors, that one and may not be like I have imagined theirs, and by systematic planting we may have the pleasure of passing our last days if not on the shady side of "Easy" street, at least on the shady side of some other.

But we can do more than ornament. We can make the streets themselves more useful and substantial, not by piling them a foot deep with material once or twice a year and then leaving them severely alone, but by properly spreading and rolling the stone and by keeping the drains in order, for next to traffic and the atmosphere the great enemy to the macadam road is the rain and snow fall. By firmly packing the top dressing and properly rounding the road bed there would be but little softening of the substructure by the action of the water, chug holes would disappear and costly repairs would be no longer needed. If it is true that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, 'tis truer still that it is the price of good roads, they need constant and unremitting attention and on that account I hold that crusher spreader and roller should all be owned and controlled by the municipality, the force operating them also attending to the ditches, the disposition of the waste and the general supervision of the streets. Stone could then be bought from all who had suitable material to offer, and many dirty farms would in this way be profitably converted into pasture lands, and no better material than the field boulder can be found for covering streets. It is folly at this stage of the game to discuss any other pavement. We have not the means to purchase brick or asphalt even if there were a real necessity, but there will be no real necessity if we use more carefully the material that we have at hand. Mr. Tillson, the eminent Brooklyn engineer, says there is virtually no end to the life of the macadam pavement if properly cared for, but it requires almost constant infusion of the elixir of repairs to bring about this eternal life. Of course the amount of the repairs depends upon the traffic and the character of the stone, only such material should be used as will not disintegrate under atmospheric influences, if such stone can be any possibility be found.

The city of Ontario has been quite successful in building streets with tarred macadam, the material being twelve inches deep, covered with fine tarred gravel, each layer being thoroughly rolled and is said to be almost as clean and far less offensive as to noise or smell, than brick or asphalt. Why not try this experiment here and if no better stone than we have been using can be found, I would suggest not only a coat of tar but a coat of tar and feathers. In conclusion I will tell a story that will point a moral and adorn this tale: "A fond father asked a visitor who had been entertained(?) by the singing of a daughter of the house, if he didn't think he ought to have his daughter's voice cultivated, and the visitor replied, that he certainly thought he ought to have something done to it."

The Four D's.

Charles Spurgeon once said that there were three great enemies to man—drift, debt and the devil. It might have added one more and included dyspepsia. The evil results of this disease could hardly be exaggerated. It's effects are felt in mind and body, and are as far reaching as the effects of the curse first laid on the Jackdaw of Rheims which was cursed in eating and drinking and sleeping, in standing and sitting and lying. The good effects of Dr. Pierce's (Golden Medical Discovery) are most marked in aggravated and chronic cases of dyspepsia. It enables the stomach glands to secrete the necessary quantity of digestive fluids, and this at once removes that craving or gnawing sensation so common to certain forms of indigestion. It tones and regulates the stomach, invigorates the torpid liver and gives the blood making glands keen assimilative power. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures ninety-eight per cent. of those who use it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are superior to all other laxative medicines when the bowels are obstructed.

HEAVY DEATH DUES.

Executors of C. P. Huntington Pay New York State $667,000.

The executors of the will of Col. P. Huntington have paid to the State of N. Y. $667,000, that being the amount they estimated as due to the State as an inheritance tax on the property left by Mr. Huntington. Later representatives of the estate and of the tax department will together go over the estate and determine the exact amount of the tax. There is also a Federal tax to be paid.

The tax just paid was on personal property and such real estate as Mr. Huntington held in New York. Controller C. E. is credited with having received nearly $7,000 as his commission.

A powerful engine cannot be kept with a weak boiler, and we can't keep up the strain of an active life with a weak stomach; neither can we stop a human machine to make repairs. If the stomach cannot digest enough food to keep the body strong, such preparation as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure should be used. It tells what you eat and it simply can't help but do you good. F. C. DORRAN.

Persons who can not take ordinary pills find it a pleasure to take Dr. Williams' Little Early Bitters. They are the best little liver pills ever made. F. C. DORRAN.

We want a Citizen's Business Club. Let's organize. Mt. Sterling must have some one to look after her interests. There are things to be looked after now, which if located here would add much to our business.

COMING.

The candidates out are a stir and some not yet out are consulting with friends whose hands they are in. A big crop yet to come from the county and with a heavy divide in strength it will be hard to count on the winner.

Not far from Cameron, West Virginia, a gas well is discharging 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. It is natural gas, free gas. If our people were organized, a committee would be appointed, whose business it would be to show those interested in the find that to pipe it to Mt. Sterling, Richmond, Paris, Winchester and Lexington would give to them a market, and then we would be able to compete with other towns more favorably provided with cheap power.

A gentleman writing to our office commenting on the candidates offering for preferment, said: Men should vote intelligently and conscientiously, because electing a man to office is employing him to do certain work. He should be fitted for the place and if the candidates offering are not capable of transacting the county's business intelligently and correctly they should not be voted for at all, and competent men should be put in the place.

BE SHARP.

For some time our people, both in the county and town, have seen the necessity of having a competing freight line, and in vain have they looked for relief. Without an effort things of worth do not come. The man who trusts in chance goes in rags and the man who grows in weeds. Lexington capitalists are looking for a locality in which they can make paying investments in electric railways and if our people would organize they could offer inducements to these people by which we would get the competing line and with it a day current of electricity greatly needed now.

SIDE WALKS.

We would take this method of calling the attention of our Councilmen of the first ward to the condition of the pavements on North Maysville and West Main Streets, to the condition of the pavements on North Sycamore Street and on West High Street. In fact, we would have them walk over the side walks in their ward and if the grade will not pass as good to do something. Then we would ask the gentlemen of the Second Ward to look at the pavements on North Maysville and East Main and intercepting pavements and pass judgement. Then we would have our friends of the Fourth Ward to look after the pavements within their circuit; likewise of the Third Ward. It seems to us that citizens should be taxed for the construction and maintenance of pavements as they are for streets. By such a method we would share alike in the construction of good pavements.

Shot In Three Places.

William Pierce and Lee Hatten went to a dance across the creek at the place of bad rapids. Of course, they had pistols and of course they were bad boys, or they would not have been there. Well, he said to their shame, they were there and got themselves into trouble. They quarreled, drew guns and both began to shoot. I tell it, it is said, eleven shots were fired, and after the smoke of battle had cleared away it was discovered that Pierce had been struck three times—in the breast, neck and arm. The way of the transgressor is hard. Friends have fought, one was seriously injured. The law, cold and unyielding takes hold of them and then comes the Wrath of God.

The costumes are historically correct, and the company a large and well-balanced one.

THE DISKS WOMEN TAKE

FOR THOSE THEY LOVE

We thrill at the story of "Curlew" shall not ring to-night. Yet it is melancholy and commonplace beside the peril every woman runs who faces motherhood. Women are strangely self-forgetful. The exaltation of the fact of motherhood blinds them often to its peril. Yet the mother's pain is a peril owed it to himself to see that his wife is in that condition of sound health which minimizes the risk both to mother and child. Many husbands have expressed their gratitude for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, because it makes the pain of motherhood practically nothing and reduces the risk to its lowest possible point.

"Five years my wife was in an almost hopeless condition, suffering from female weakness," writes J. B. Everett, Dr. of Hagerman, Washington Co., Pa. "Last September I decided to have her try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She took several bottles of the medicine and gave birth to a ten pound son on January last. Now she is now sound and well and doing her housework."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser 1000 pages sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume or 27 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

FACTS AND

OBSERVATIONS

THE MOREHEAD NORMAL. A TRIP TO YALE.

A Protest to Democrats and Republicans.

As our junior editor goes up and down the streets of Mt. Sterling and here and there through the surrounding counties he sees and hears much that gives promise to the coming years, that reveals the good that is in man and its attendant blessings and joys. Yet all is not bright or encouraging—really there is much to cause serious thought and sadness.

On Wednesday morning we started east. Our first stop was at

MOREHEAD.

Dr. L. P. V. Williams has had grip for some days.

We called at headquarters of the Morehead & West Liberty railroad. A small force is at present working on the road. On account of severe cold little progress can be made in grading. We accepted an invitation to dine at College Hall with Mr. George Carr. There are also members of the Carr family boarding at the Cottage.

Since our last call at the Normal school some improvements have been made. The addition to the school building had been completed and fine flag stone pavements laid through the Campus. The Normal is in a flourishing condition. The attendance is now 180. There are 25 classes in the Advanced Department with 8 instructors. Tuition and board cost $10 per month.

We came to Salt Lick in the afternoon to take the train for Yale.

We met Mr. L. J. Craig, who during the summer, was in charge of the oil well drilling in this city. On the preceding Saturday he finished drilling the second oil well, near the residence of Thos. Riglan on Licking river, 8 miles from Salt Lick. At a depth of 408 feet a very fine quality of lubricating oil was found. Mr. Craig says the yield is 1 bbl. per hour—the oil is heavy and has to be pumped. It will at once begin drilling another well across the river.

At 6 o'clock the train pulled out for Yale. The little passenger car was well filled with passengers. On board were some men who seemed to have lost all discretion, much self respect, sense of shame and regard for the feelings of others. Drunkenness, whiskey drinking and vulgarly debased what was made in the image of God. We regret to say that the conspicuous one was a man who by the people of his county had been promoted to high official position. He was not a resident of Bath county.

Owing to inclemency of weather we were unwilling to expose ourselves on the rear platform for protection against such damning obscenity. This fact and observation with other recent occurrences called forth serious reflections; the origin of man, his capacities, and obligations, his highest duty, his destiny; then there comes the thought of sin with its shame, humiliation, and death to all that is noblest in him.

Since the days of our boyhood we have heard for a high type of manhood in the private walks of life, from the pulpit and through the columns of the MT. STERLING ADVOCATE we have admonished and pleaded with men to seek the highest and best. We have from time to time given expression to our desire for clean men, pure men, honest men, as our representatives in places of honor and trust in the affairs of town, county, district and nation.

We have sounded the note of warning against the nomination by the Democratic party of men who are excessive drinkers or drunkards, and men who resort to the bar room and vote selling methods of securing a nomination or election. In the name of decency, manhood and all that is noble and good, we again plead with the citizens of our county and other counties who read these lines to give us MEN MEN whose lives will be an honor to their community, and to whom the people may refer or own as our officials without a blush of shame.

These are plain words, prompted by what the writer believes to be his duty as a citizen and editor. Think on these things.

We found comfortable quarters at the Green Hotel. It was the night for village prayer-meeting. We went and were surprised to find only 11 attendants; five ladies and ladies and six young men and women. The leader was a young man; we noticed that four of the ladies and young ladies read scripture quotations—a bright-eyed Miss presided at the organ.

We do not expect everybody to attend prayer-meeting in town or the country, but were expecting to see a larger number—some married people. Yale is a place of commercial importance and gives employment to many men. We suppose that several of these with their wives are Christians. We could not find space for an hour on evening in the week at the Lord's house? 'T would be a relief (probably) from the cares of life in the home and mill—a real tonic. As we have several subscribers at Yale we make this suggestion.

Work progresses nicely at E. W. Strick's mill, and in the spring time things will boom.

Thanks to Master of Trains, Mr. Nutter, for editorial courtesies recommended by the General Manager, Mr. Miller. We three now stand in with each other—money or no money—in the pocket of the editor.

We spent the forenoon observing how things are done, now and then asking a question and enrolling names for past time as subscribers for the Advocate.

Off at 1.30 p. m., took express at Salt Lick for Winchester, where we spent the night, next morning faced a snow storm and rainy breezes en route to Torrent and Ridgewood Junction, looked after matters and things in general, returned to Winchester and then spent the night at home.

TORRENT.

Walter Bush, son of Wm. Bush, Sr., was married to Miss Loua Rogers on Tuesday, Feb. 14.

At Zeharah church on Sunday, Feb. 17, Rev. Millard Stamper was preaching. Rev. Thompson who was in the audience, questioned the correctness of a statement of fact in church history. This led to a sharp discussion, which afforded considerable amusement for some of the congregation. Behold how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.

TIME TO LOOSEN THE Purse Strings

And Get Ready for Spring Buying!

The Busy Bee Cash Store

Has not arrived at its present stage of usefulness by chance.

There's no luck or speculation about this business; it isn't the result of fortunate circumstances, but down-right, honest, hard work—work which your interests as customers have been carefully studied at every corner and turn. We did not come here strangers. Our business friends of to-day include many who have known us from childhood up to the present, and they number into the thousands. They know us and they have confidence in our methods of doing business. If you don't believe all this, visit our store during the coming week. We are going to officially open up the Dress Goods, Wash Goods, Hamburgs, Embroideries and Laces.

Note the Throngs

Of satisfied buyers in each department and you will believe there's friendship in business, for we look upon every customer who leaves a dime or a dollar in our store as a business friend.

Every Corner of the Orient

Has been ransacked to make our store different from any other. Never has it been so beautiful, so full of new things that you want as it is now. Enthusiasm rightly directed always wins.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN.—Our Wash Goods, Hamburgs and Embroideries have always been the Talk of the Town. This season we have made unusual efforts to have them more attractive than ever. Style, Colorings, Quality, Price—these four big items have had every consideration, and you yourself will say it is a beautiful sight when you see our tables and counters piled full of these lovely fabrics. The fashionable ladies had better hasten themselves while the choice exclusive things are still here. Wise men dip into the future; wise women plan for future needs.

FRESH AS APPLE BLOSSOMS are the counter heaps of Dress Stuffs and Women Dainties. The loom artists have caught many a hint from nature and the merchandise artists have made the things almost as cheap for you as if they grew. We might as well attempt to "Paint the Rose" as describe them. Come and see them; rather have your judgment than ours; they were bought for you.

OUR NEW CARPETS, RUGS AND MATTINGS are all in. We are showing a big assortment of handsome, high-grade Carpets in this department. A dozen first-class manufacturers are represented in this stock. When you buy Carpets from us it is the same as buying from the mills; you have but our profit to pay, and the patterns you get are the very newest, just from the looms. Look through our Carpet Department and get our estimates.

CLOTHING AND SHOE DEPARTMENT.—We are making some special offerings this week in our Clothing and Shoe Department. Our buyers have bought so heavy for spring that we thought it advisable to make slaughtering prices in these departments for a few days to make room for other goods that are to come in. Prices cut half in two on many entire lines of Shoes and Clothing. Bring in your wagons and fill them up; you need the goods; we are willing to make the sacrifice to get the money.

OUR HOSIERY STOCK is chuck full of new novelties for the coming season. We pride ourselves on giving the best values and maintaining the lowest prices on our hosiery. You can find anything you want and anything that is in favor this season in this department.

SMALL WANTS AND NOTIONS.—We are always in the lead when it comes to small wants and notions. We are continually showing new things in Belts, Combs, Hair Ornaments, Jewelry and all novelties to be had in the Notion Department. If you don't see what you want ask for it.

There's a bustle to our business. It's wide awake, broad-gauge, up-to-date stock-keeping that's doing it. We turn dull days into busy ones by bringing forth good things and telling you about them. There's a well beaten path that leads directly to our doors; throngs of buyers travel it daily. Get in line and be one of the many who are daily strengthening their business relations with us. We want you to come and tell your friends and neighbors of the many good things we have for them. We want to serve them as faithfully as we serve you. Confidence once established, the rest is easy. Thanking you for past patronage, we are very respectfully,

GOVERNOR OF OREGON Uses Pe-ru-na For Colds in His Family and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.
A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says:

RECEIVED DEPARTMENT,
SALEM, MAY 6, 1898.
The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Dear Sirs:—I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly, W. M. Lord.
Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures catarrh, but prevents. Every household should be supplied with this good remedy for coughs, colds and so forth. It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. Use it for coughs, colds, grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

RELIGION VERSUS THE FEUD.

Dr. Guerrant Talks Interestingly of Work in Kentucky Mountains.

(By Passie Penton Otley, in Atlanta (Ga.) Journal.)

The article is given by telling of Dr. Guerrant's work as a cavalryman with General Morgan and continues as follows:

"It is perhaps a Confederate record of his, as a brave officer and true soldier, that has given the opening for Dr. Guerrant to the hearts and homes of the Kentucky mountaineers among whom so much of his work since the war has been done. Many of these stalwart fellows have fought side by side with him in that great conflict, and he has never secured less than to them a brother. Dr. Guerrant returns their affectionate esteem. "The Confederacy numbered no more fearless soldiers than I fought for her in the Kentucky mountains. A brigade of those tall, quiet, indomitable fellows fought in my division and they were unequalled in valor and fortitude. I have never seen such marksmanship. To be a Confederate meant something in the Kentucky mountains, heavily garrisoned as they were with Federal troops and full of Union sentiment. To be caught with the Little boys returned, the Strongs had the upper hand, then, so far as political power was concerned, but the Littles had back of them a powerful connection and their Winchester, shooting sixteen times. The feud lasted for twenty years, during which time 126 men were killed."

"Capt. William Strong, leader of one party, lived through all these years, after having fought through the war on the Union side. He is said to have made six or four women widows. He was assassinated at last. No leader of the Little faction lasted so long, but there was over one of the old brand to take his place. When I came upon the feud, Jerry Little, a thin, lank-headed young fellow of thirty, was the head of the clan, and a braver man never backed a desperate cause."

"What did you have to do with the Little-Strong feud, Dr. Guerrant?" I asked.

"By the grace of God, I was in it at its death," he responded in his eager French way.

"I was evangelist of the Strongs of Kentucky," he continued, "and for twenty years I traveled over mountains and rivers, in buggies or on horseback, to preach the gospel to my dear friends up in the mountain counties. In the course of these labors I came, on one occasion, to the Little town of Jackson, county-seat of bloody Russell, and center of war more moments for the great Little-Strong feud."

"The courthouse was only six inches, as 500 federal troops had a times been sent there to secure a sitting of court without avail. On one occasion the would-be presiding judge, who belonged to the Strong faction, had led off in a battle royal by fighting a street duel to the death with one of the Littles. At the end of the fight a dozen dead men lay by him. I knew all these things, and I knew the Littles, for they had been Confederates and so had I."

"The little town was a desperate place. Two men had been hanged in the streets, and the Strongs knew my natural inclination toward the Little side."

"As soon as he knew of my presence Jerry Little rode in to see me and offer his protection. He was, as I have said, head of his clan, and had killed seventeen men, everyone a clear case of self-defense. I shall never forget how the young fellow looked as he took my hand and said, 'If any trouble comes up, sir, look to me to settle it.' I told him I had come to propose another way of settling troubles, and wanted to preach the gospel of peace."

"He looked dubious, but was determined to see me through at any cost. Before the meeting was over he had professed conversion, as had a number of other members of his family and friends, and with them members of the Strong faction. More than a hundred persons were baptized at that meeting."

"There was not at that time a single church in Breathitt county. Today there are seven churches there, six of them of the Presbyterian denomination, and a fine Presbyterian college with 230 students."

"When the feudists joined the church did the feud cease to be?" I asked Dr. Guerrant.

"Yes; they undoubtedly did. I have preached the gospel all over the Kentucky mountains in the teeth of the fiercest of the most desperate and the fiercest of the feudists, and I never knew an exception to the statement that when Christ and His salvation was once accepted by the feudists their violence came to an end. These mountain men are thoroughly honest and courageous, and having once professed allegiance to the Prince of Peace and realized that God said 'Vengeance is mine; I will repay,' they would cease to follow the old method which they had to abjure in accepting the new."

"Did you have other experiences than this one of the power of the gospel to cast out 'wrath among the feudists?' I asked, finding it difficult to conceive of such a change of heart in these fierce men."

"In next issue we will give account of French-Kersale feud in Perry county."

We can't afford to let an orchard is a long time coming, and to be fooled is a loss for a lifetime.

To take his place Mr. Clark has arranged for the Nat Young jack, every bit as good as the one sold and some say much better. Of one thing be sure Mr. Clark handles only the best in horses, jacks, cows, chickens, turkeys, etc. He goes on the principle that the keep of one is more than that of the other, and therefore he will have only the best.

When Primary Election Ballots are Kept Who Furnishes the Paper?

In response to many inquiries from the secretaries of political parties in the different counties, Secretary of State Hill has addressed a circular letter to them advising that if the primaries for county office and for members of the General Assembly are held under the primary election law the ballots must be preserved, as provided in the statutes enacted at the extra session of the Legislature. He also informs them that the paper for the ballots, which must meet the requirements of that law, must be furnished by the political party holding the primary, and not by the State. Pamphlets containing election statutes will be sent out very soon. Fifty thousand have been ordered.

TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician.

First and Foremost, REST. Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest, and must have it. If the attack is severe, go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than from any other cause.

Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of large quantities of food.

Drink plenty of pure, cold water. It allays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills.

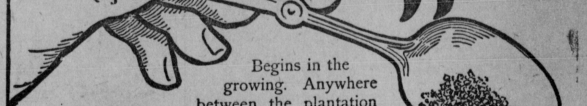

Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver pills, and if you cannot sleep take an extra dose at bed time. To further counter the fever, and to overcome the peculiar rash and pains of grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectively, and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times, and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief.

Dr. Miles' Remedies can be found at any drug store, and they are sold on a positive guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded. 25-ct

The Making of Good Coffee

Begins in the growing. Anywhere between the plantation and the coffee pot the flavor may be changed, the quality spoiled by carelessness, inexperience, or unscrupulous methods. From the time Arbuckles' Coffee leaves the hands of the grower until it reaches the user in a sealed packet, it is handled with the same watchful care, the same thought for cleanliness, that you would give any article of food that goes on your table. That's the reason it costs the grocer a cent a pound more than its cheap imitations. The extra cent you pay for buys much more than a cent's worth of quality and strength. A pound of Arbuckles' Coffee will give you more cups of better coffee than you would get from other package coffees.

Be sure you get Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee. Other package coffees are but imitations of Arbuckles'.

In each pound package of Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee there is a list of articles. With each package in which the list is found the purchaser has bought a ticket in part of some article to be selected by him or her from the list, subject only to the condition that the signature on the package is to be cut out and returned to our National Dept. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. CANCER IS NOT INCURABLE

Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy. Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out. By the same token cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will grow in its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic, life-destroying plasters. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisons, effect made before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Cancer is not always inherited; your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may develop from a sore or ulcer on your tongue or other part of your body, a slight bruise or hurt, a little pimple on the eyelid, lip or nose, a small lump on the jaw or breast, a harmless looking wart and other causes so insignificant as to attract at once; it will cleanse your blood and prevent the formation of cancerous cells.

Mrs. R. Miller, La Plata, Mo., writes: "A small pimple came on my jaw about one inch below the ear on the left side of my face. At first it gave me no trouble, and I did not think it was anything serious until the jaw began to swell and became much inflamed. At the same time the sore began to spread and I was in great pain. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. I was a beginner in the use of S. S. S. and after taking several bottles the Cancer healed, and there was no sign of the disease. Three years ago and I am still enjoying perfect health."

Send for our special book on Cancer; it contains much information that will interest you. It is free. Write our physicians about your case, and for any advice or information wanted; they have made a life study of Cancer and all blood diseases. We make no charge whatever for this.

Distinguished Young Men.

Senator B. Worridge, of Indiana, who was thirty-eight last October, is generally referred to as a remarkably precocious young man to have attained such a high position at such age. But Henry Clay was elected Senator at thirty-one, and John C. Breckinridge at thirty-nine, having been previously elected Vice President at thirty-five and having served the full term. In the Senate which will meet on the 5th of March next for executive business will be Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, who is exactly one year younger than Worridge's, and has served ten years as a member of Congress.

First—Because the proprietors have always been most careful in selecting the various ingredients used in its composition, namely: the finest Cod Liver Oil, and the purest Hypophosphites.

Second—Because they have so skillfully combined the various ingredients that the best possible results are obtained by its use.

Third—Because it has made so many sickly, delicate children strong and healthy, given health and rosy cheeks to so many pale, anemic girls, and healed the lungs and restored to full health, so many thousands in the first stages of Consumption.

Harrodsburg's Streak of Misfortune.

"Harrodsburg has had her population decreased by death to a greater extent than any other town in the country of its size," said Mr. D. L. Moore, of that city. "There has been an epidemic of the grip and pneumonia there for the past two months, and our little cemetery has had a new-made mound in it almost every day during January and February. The deaths are mostly among the older folks."

At Lexington rats and ferrets are used in laying underground telephone wire. A rat is run through a conduit followed by a ferret with a string tied to its tail, and the ferret is made to catch the rat in transit. What then?

THROAT REST

You can cough yourself into bronchitis, pneumonia, and consumption. Bandaging and bundling your throat will do no good. You must give your throat and lungs rest and allow the cough wounds to heal. There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. Stop it by using

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Even the cough of early consumption is cured. And, later on, when the disease is firmly fixed, you can bring rest and comfort in every case. A 25 cent bottle will cure new coughs and colds; the 50 cent size is better for settled coughs of bronchitis and weak lungs; the one dollar size is more economical for chronic cases and consumption. It's the size you should keep on hand. "All families ought to have on the shelf for sudden attacks of cough or wheezing trouble. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral constantly on hand for prompt relief in every case." JONAS G. WILSON, M.D., Pres. N. H. Co., Holland, Mich.

Onions Did It.

Onions as a diet for conductors and motormen on street cars have been placed under the ban of a prohibitive order by the Chicago Railway Company. The following was issued Wednesday morning from the main office.

"Any conductor on whose breath is detected the odor of onions while on duty will be taken from his car and suspended or discharged. Employees of the Chicago City Railway Company must not offend the public in such manner."

MEXICAN WOMEN.

"Catching On" to the Businesslike Ways of Americans.

It is odd to encounter brisk, businesslike, energetic young Mexicans talking American college slang! They do this, and they know our social customs and like them. They all like the American girl, and would like to change some customs here. Time is a sure modifier, and already one finds many More-Spanish customs dropping into desuetude. Young women in this capital go about alone to a much greater extent than was the case a few years ago; there is a perceptible feminine revolt against the old restrictions. Many young women are employed in shops and public offices. This is a novelty in a Latin-American country.

I met a young woman the other day walking down the street, says a writer in the New York Post, and she told me she was studying typewriting and shorthand adapted to Spanish, with a view to earning her own living. Her manner was a fine blending of the Latin race and the American independence.

A little girl of ten said the other day that she was going to learn English and be a "business woman."

In a provincial city a fortnight ago a wealthy and enterprising Mexican gentleman, whose home is a charming reproduction of a great Andalusian casa told me of his plans for his eldest daughter. She is now in a great religious school, where government standards of instruction are the rule.

"I am," said this busy Mexican, "going to have my daughter learn telegraphy, typewriting and book-keeping, and she is going to be put in charge of all my accounts. She is now learning English well, and will know French. It is my belief that we Mexicans must throw over the foolish notion of the dependence of women, and teach them how to be independent and able to earn their own living in case of need. My property may vanish, and my girl must be superior to the vicissitudes of fortune."

"I was given up to die from heart and nervous troubles, caused by grip. Six bottles each of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine cured me."—Mrs. John Wollet, Jefferson, Wis.

Children who are troubled with worms are pale in the face, fretful by spells, restless in sleep, have bling around their eyes, bad dream, variable appetite, and pick the nose. White's Cream Vermifuge will kill and expel these parasites. Price 25 cents. Thos. Kennedy.

Faults of digestion cause disorders of the liver, and the whole system becomes deranged. Herber's perverts the process of digestion and assimilation, and thus makes pure blood. Price 50 cts. Thos. Kennedy.
